About The Big Picture

The Big Picture specialises in bespoke installations of high-quality home cinema, media, listening and TV rooms.

We offer a full service from start to finish or design-only for the 'hands-on' enthusiast; even just advice & supply-only should you be upgrading a component or two in your system; needing a control system or starting from scratch.

Your room will be expertly designed to the exact same standards as our previous award-winning rooms.

We pride ourselves on impeccable attention to detail and appreciation of aesthetics. If you desire sublime sonic performance, we offer the finest equipment known and have the knowledge to get the best from it.

With over twenty years of experience, you can trust us to provide excellence in your home.

More Than Cinema

Our aim when creating any cinema system is not to match what you see and hear at the local 'Multiplex', but to outperform it. We are confident, given a realistic budget, we can achieve this time and time again.

Our systems are designed from an engineering perspective using sound scientific principles and amassed empirical findings. We have learnt valuable lessons along the way from the design and creation of all manner of cinema installations; whether dedicated rooms or hidden discretely in lounges.

We understand how the importance of aesthetics; equipment is almost always hidden from site. We are fully trained in fabric-wall-stretching that hide acoustic room treatments.

We can undertake every aspect of the cinema design and installation to a fully finished room.

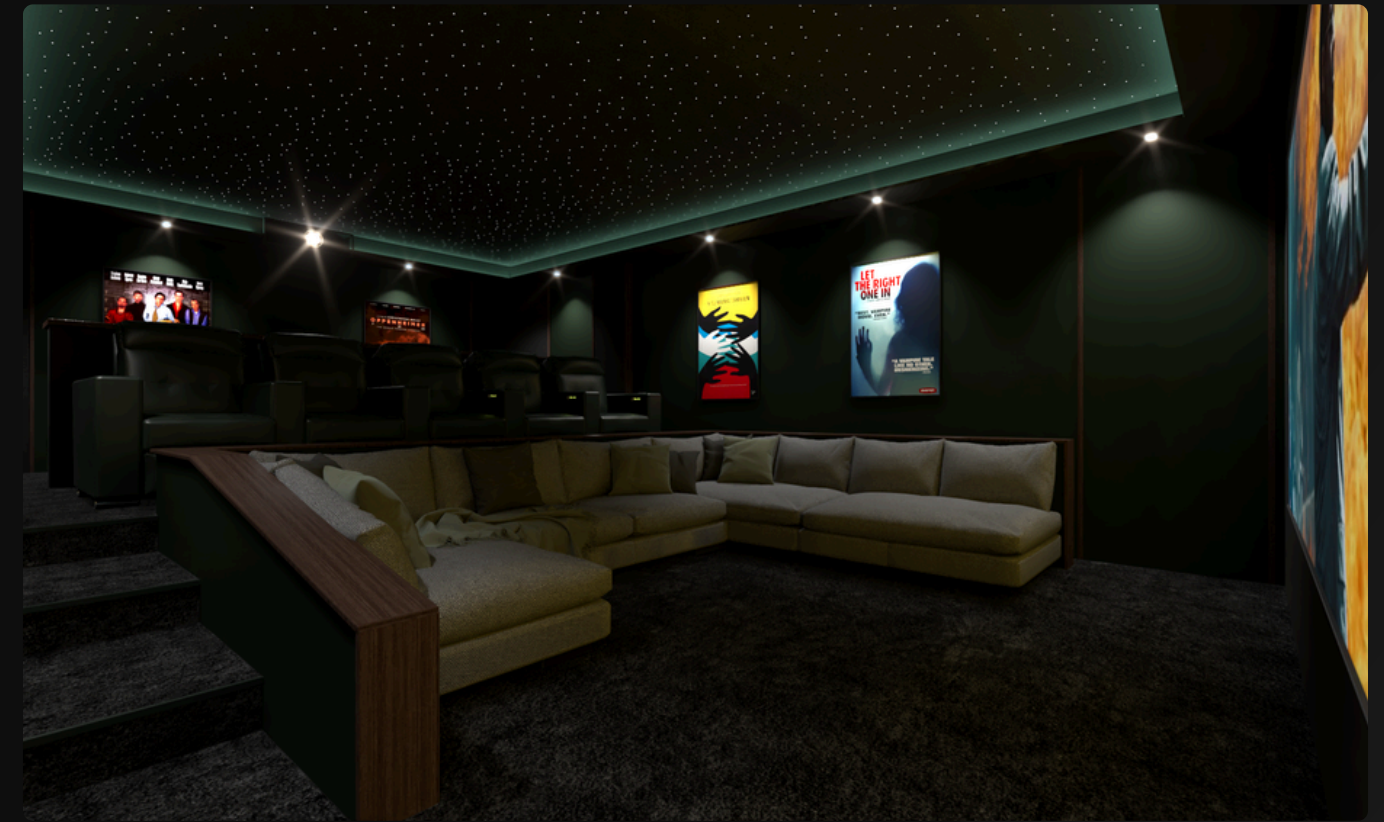

About Us

The Big Picture personally designs every inch of every Big Picture project. Over two decades, we have completed hundreds of expertly-considered rooms, including all of The Big Picture's award-winners.

We don't leave design to suppliers who only want to sell their kit, nor do we use generic cinema design software that can't account for the idiosyncrasies of unique spaces.

We like to be responsible for every project's design, build, set-up and programming from beginning to end. We are on-site every day from first fixing right to handover.

Great TV Rooms

Building a great tv room isn't just about creating a dedicated place to watch your favourite movies. Modern technology allows movie and tv lovers to access and appreciate the incredible production values on offer from the likes of Netflix, Amazon and Apple. The Big Picture can deliver fully immersive sound and vision experiences, discretely, using acoustic fabrics, wall speakers and cabinetry.

Media Rooms

Often a lounge or family room, a media room houses a TV and discrete surround sound or perhaps a hidden projector that drops in front of the TV for a cinematic immersive experience (and a gamers' best life). Add automated curtains and mood lighting and a family lounge can become an amazing audio visual retreat at the click of a couple of (simple to use) buttons.

Industry Certified

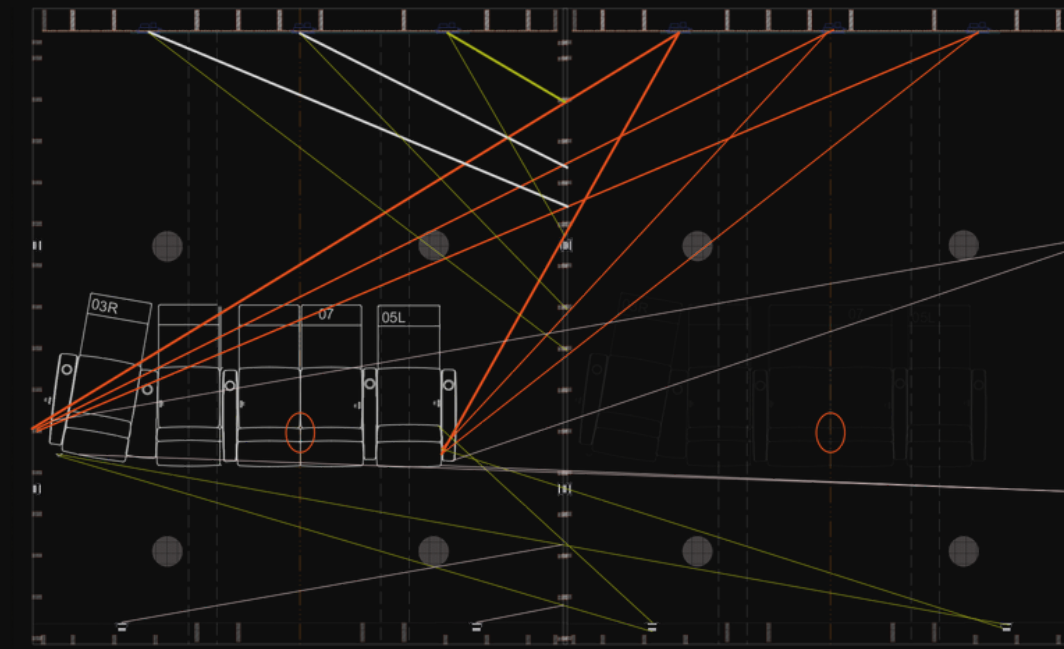

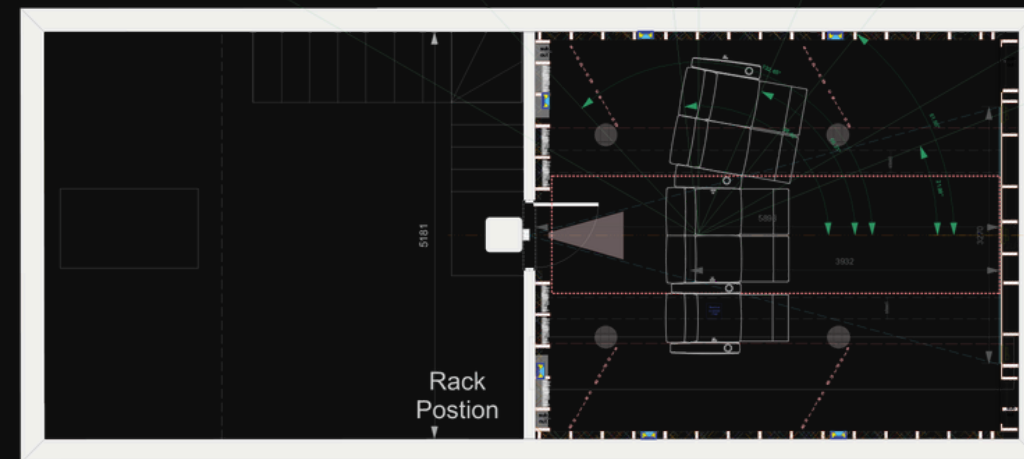

We are trained and certified HAA (Home Acoustics Alliance) acousticians and calibrators. We know how important the choice of equipment is to give reference levels of volume and sonic clarity at the listening position; where seating should or should not be placed; where speakers and bass-extension speakers should be located. During calibration of your system, EQ, timing delays and Sound pressure levels are all monitored and finely adjusted to give optimum performance.

The Imaging Science Foundation is the video calibrating industry governing body. We are ISF Certified and as such any system we install for you will be fully calibrated to give accurate colour rendition and numerous other important parameters will be checked and tuned.

Dependent on your needs we can do basic designs or take on the whole job including interior design, lighting and seating etc.

Control System Experts

Hi-Fi and TVs, Heating and Air-Con, Blinds and Curtains, Doors and Gates, Lights and CCTV, we all have a home devices that could be controlled by a remote handset.

A 'home-automation' control system does away with all of the manufacturers controllers and seamlessly blends control into just one device.

One-button pushes can be programmed to set off chain-events (aka macros). Events can be timed to execute automatically at specific times of the day, week, month or even year.

Control4 is the most sophisticated, cost effective control system on the market. Control of the automated home becomes really simple for anyone in the family; either using remote handsets with informative screens; in-wall and portable touchscreens, PC's, Mac's, iPhones and iPads.

“ For anyone who is serious about having a high-quality install that not just sounds and looks good from an AV perspective but also enhances the beauty of your home, I cannot recommend The Big Picture highly enough.

Ciaran is a lovely person to work with, extremely detail-conscious and focused and will deliver the best possible result for your budget. I promise you, if you engage his services, you will not be disappointed! ”

Jordi Robinson, Medical Sales Director

“ All work was carried out in an efficient and tidy manner, around a flexible time frame, allowing for decorating and furniture fitting.

The system we now have installed performs way beyond our initial expectations and we would recommend The Big Picture to anyone who has genuine aspirations of enjoying a home cinema / theatre experience. ”

Dave Hathaway, MD

“ I strongly recommend The Big Picture. They took over a job that had been started by another firm, and the difference was remarkable.

They were knowledgeable, always helpful, and offered advice as and when they considered they had better solutions. Delightful people to work with. ”
